

Evans Electrical Ltd

Evans Electrical Ltd is a long established, respected, professional, electrical engineering company located in Cardiff, South Wales.

The nature of our business is such that any of our activities may be controlled and not cause detrimental environmental impact. The following specific steps will be taken by the company to minimize operations on a local, regional and global level:

- We shall demonstrate continual environmental improvement on an on-going basis facilitated through our programme of objectives and targets
- We shall prevent pollution and ensure, so far as reasonably practical, minimize nuisance to the communities near our site activities
- We shall meet environmental regulations, codes of practice and any other environmental requirements to which we subscribe
- We shall minimise vehicle emissions to the atmosphere through a regular maintenance programme and encourage employees to use environmentally friendly transport
- We will apply the waste hierarchy: reduce, re-use, recycle and ensure all waste is disposed of in a responsible manner
- We will, wherever practical, encourage our suppliers to be environmentally responsible
- We shall ensure all staff (including those working on our behalf) are competent to undertake their duties so as to meet the obligations we make in this Policy

Nik Mason
Managing Director
Evans Electrical Ltd

9 December 2011
Version 1.0